

LELL PLAYOFF FORMAT

24/25 Division

February 2nd, 2020

9:00 AM - Seeds 1, 2, 3 and 4 will play a Championship flight of games. The top two teams coming out of this flight will play in the championship the following week.

10:20 AM - Seeds 5, 6, 7, and 8 will play a normal flight of games.

24/25 Division -

February 9th, 2020

9:00 AM - Seeds 5, 6, 7 and 8 will play a normal flight of games.

10:20 AM - Top two teams from 2/2/20 Playoff Flight will compete for the LELL Championship in one 50-minute game.

Bottom two teams from 2/2/20 Playoff Flight will play in Third Place Game in one 50-minute game.

As for the coming weekend, the stakes are high, and have been made even higher by last weekend's snow-related suspension of standings.

Below are the records and current standings for the 2024/2025 bracket:

1st Place (has the head to head advantage over the Cannons)

Chrome: 12-3

2nd Place

Cannons: 12-3

3rd Place

Atlas: 11-4

4th Place

Blaze: 6-9

5th Place (three-way tie)

Outlaws, Redwoods, Archers: 5-10

8th Place

Bayhawks: 4-11

Mathematically, it doesn't take a rocket scientist to realize the #1 to #3 seeds (Chrome, Cannons and Atlas) have secured their LELL Playoff spots. The playoff situation that remains is really wild, and is clearly indicative of what has been a season of great parity; no one is technically eliminated, as the Bayhawks could theoretically advance with a great week of play (and some help from others). As for the Blaze, Outlaws, Redwoods and Archers, even though this coming weekend isn't technically a playoff weekend, it might as well be one given its ramifications.

The coveted CELL Championship Sweatshirts are on the line, and again, we look forward to everyone giving it their all in this exciting final phase of the first ever LELL Playoffs!